

Web Designer & Programmer

Our website needs an update. Can you help?

You'll need to have a working knowledge of PHP and MySQL, since these are the languages that our website runs on, and we currently don't have a content management system.

You'll also need some creative flair. Our website is often one of the first things about our organisation that people see. Can you make us stand out from our competitors with a professional but unique design?

This is an opportunity for someone to gain in experience in taking a leading role in this project. Can you step up to the mark?
